BIO

Yan Schwider is a Brazilian actor based in Dublin, Ireland, where he has lived for the past ten years. He is best known for his role as Caius in the short film 'They Can't Know About Me'. Yan's diverse experience spans contemporary theatre, short films, music videos, television series, and commercial work.

He began his formal training in theatre in Brazil and more recently completed an acting course in Los Angeles at The Hollywood Initiative, honing his skills specifically for on-camera performance.

Yan brings a versatile skill set to his craft, including singing, improvisation, sketch comedy, stage combat, and proficiency in various sports. His performance background includes singing in choirs and extensive theatre studies, which have contributed to his dynamic range as a performer.

Committed to continuous growth, Yan plans to pursue further training and is passionate about delivering compelling performances on both stage and screen.
