BIO

Sonya Macari is an accomplished actor based in both Ireland and Los Angeles. She recently starred as Susan, a defense attorney, in 'The Rainmaker' for Lionsgate. Her versatile career spans stage and screen, with notable roles including 'It's Always Sunny in Philadelphia', 'House', and the Oscar-nominated 'The Artist'. She portrayed Mary Magdalene in the Hallmark Channel's 'Mary Magdalene' and Antonia, an Italian spy, on NBC's 'Chuck'. Other key roles include Francesca in 'Caravaggio' and 'My Mother the Pope', Sara in the sci-fi thriller 'Protocol' starring alongside Eric Lange and Eva Clark in the film noir 'Behind the Curtain'. She was also nominated for Best Supporting Actress at the Utah Film Festival for her role as Vanessa in 'Kiss the Devil in the Dark' alongside Doug Jones.

Sonya has portrayed characters in both her Irish and American accents, and her fluency in Italian has also led to roles in the language. Sonya is an accomplished voiceover artist, having voiced numerous commercials and narrated books for Penguin Random House. She trained at HB Studios in New York and The Gaiety School of Acting in Dublin and was selected to work with Sir Anthony Hopkins in an exclusive Masterclass.

In addition to this, she is also the founder of Creative Acting Studios, an online platform offering masterclasses, workshops, and free talks with renowned industry professionals, including casting directors, producers, and writers from Los Angeles, which she personally moderates.
